COVENTRY PREVENT TEAM

Coventry as a city have Prevent specific resources to safeguard our communities.

The Coventry Prevent Team are an all-age early intervention service across the city of Coventry who work to safeguard people from being radicalised, supporting extremist groups or becoming involved in terrorism.

They offer a range of training, policy guidance and support to partner organisations and community groups. Their key aim is to help people understand the local risks of radicalisation and to provide them with the knowledge and resources to build resilience within their area

The Channel programme supports individuals at an early stage to disengage from all forms of extremism and terrorism. This is achieved through working with the individual to create and implement a bespoke multi-agency support plan.

COVENTRY PREVENT EDUCATION OFFICER

The Prevent Education Officers role is very much one of delivering Prevent priorities locally and driving support for education settings. This is by:

- providing advice and support to schools on their compliance with the requirements of the Prevent statutory duty as set out in the Prevent Duty guidance
- embedding Prevent in the curriculum, increase pupils' resilience to radicalisation, and promote fundamental British values
- offering advice, support and deliver training to education settings
- developing and maintain effective working relationships with the full range of Prevent partners

POLICE PREVENT OFFICERS - EASTERN PREVENT TEAM

The police Eastern Prevent Team (Coventry/Solihull) currently have six officers whose primary safeguarding role is to prevent vulnerable people becoming involved in violent extremism of all kinds.

The team are comprised of a Sergeant and five Constables who are police prevent officers appointed to help tackle terrorism through building strong links with local communities thus making them resilient to the extremist narrative.

They also work alongside Neighbourhood Policing Teams to support local citizens, community groups, educational establishments and partner organisations with understanding issues around all forms of extremism and can help guide practitioners with supporting materials (toolkits, workshops and presentations).

All referrals need to be made to the below email address promptly:

CTU_GATEWAY@west-midlands.pnn.police.uk

The team can be contacted on the below numbers for advice if needed:

Trust Me: Childnet has created a resource designed to support teachers in exploring critical thinking online.

The 'Trust Me' resource www.childnet.com/resources/trust-me has been created with teachers in mind after hearing from schools that they wanted a resource which would start the conversations around extremism and extreme online content. It has a primary pack and a secondary pack with lesson plans and activities to empower teachers and young people. It challenges young people to think critically about what they see online

Content, Contact and Propaganda. It is ideal for PSHE citizenship and digital literacy with application across the curriculum www.childnet.com/resources/trust-me
